FACTS What does ACR – Alpine Capital Research, LLC (“ACR”) do with your personal information?

WHY? Financial companies choose how they share your personal information. Federal law gives consumers the right to limit some but not all sharing. Federal law also requires us to tell you how we collect, share, and protect your personal information. Please read this notice carefully to understand what we do.

WHAT? The types of personal information we collect, and share depend on the product or service you have with us. This information can include:

- Information we receive from you or your authorized representative on investment advisory agreements, client information forms, custodian account statements or written correspondence (which includes email) – including, but not limited to, your name, address, phone number, tax identification number, assets, income, investment experience, risk tolerance and date of birth.
- Other information and documentation that we may collect from you to verify your identity.
- Information we receive from independent broker-dealers including, but not limited to, your account number and balance, trade confirmations, and other financial information.

When you are no longer our client, we continue to share your information as described in this notice.

HOW? All financial companies need to share clients’ personal information to run their everyday business. In the section below, we list the reasons financial companies can share their clients’ personal information; the reasons ACR chooses to share; and whether you can limit this sharing. In general, ACR will only disclose your personal information if it is required by law, at your direction, or necessary for providing you with our best service.

What we do

How does ACR protect my personal information?

To protect your personal information from unauthorized access and use, we use security measures that comply with federal law. These measures include computer safeguards and secured files and buildings. We take precautions to protect your information. We restrict access to your personal information to those employees who need to know that information in order to provide services to you. We also maintain physical, electronic, and procedural safeguards to guard your personal information.

How does ACR collect my personal information?

We collect your personal information, for example, when you:

- Enter into an advisory agreement
- Open an investment advisory account
- Provide your contact information

We also obtain information for the purpose of verifying your identity, proper execution of transactions, cost basis information, etc. We may also collect your personal information from other companies, such as your financial adviser, consultants, broker-dealers, and custodians.

Why can't I limit all sharing?

Federal law gives you the right to limit only:

- Sharing for affiliates' everyday business purposes – information about your creditworthiness.
- Affiliates from using your information to market to you.
- Sharing for nonaffiliates to market to you.

State laws and individual companies may give you additional rights to limit sharing.
